ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

As the current socio-economic situation holds, the need for successful leaders who can act as pillars of growth, becomes all the more important. Therefore, it falls upon the educator to help the learner evolve into individuals who are well-acquainted with their own selves. The ever evolving psycho-social culture has resulted in a critical need to understand the paradigm of success and henceforth acknowledge the quest for growth based on one's own qualities of leadership and conveyance of thoughts and opinions.

This places the teachers with the responsibility of engaging with and staying up to date with the ongoing trail of education policies, immense opportunities as well as their characterization of diversity built upon the norms of gender classification, gender neutrality and its real-time transformation.

This FDP aims as at upskilling the faculty members broadly upon the sensitization of gender roles and respective opportunities, by assisting them via research and presentation strategies enabling them to ideate upon imparting the notions of overall personality development with their disciplines.
