The second edition of the e-newsletter is the result of the collective efforts of the team Vanijya. I congratulate the entire team for their brilliant work and the untiring efforts in editing and revising to give the current edition a practical shape in no time. I hope that the e-newsletter shall prove to be a genuine reflection of major achievements of Vanijya Samiti and will encourage more contribution from our students. I express my heartfelt gratitude to Principal Saloni Gupta for her constant support. TIC Himanshu Garg and advisor Prof. Mala Rani , Dr Divya Sharma for their invaluable inputs in compiling the e-newsletter.

INTRODUCTION

☒ The G20 Is Composed Of Most Of The World's Largest Economies, Finance Ministries, Including Both Industrialised And Developing Countries; It Accounts For Around 80% Of Gross World Product (GWP), 75% Of International Trade, Two-Thirds Of The Global Population, And 60% Of The World's Land Area.

☒ The G20 was founded in 1999 in response to several world economic crises. Since 2008, it has convened at least once a year, with summits involving each member's head of government or state, finance minister, or foreign minister, and other high-ranking officials; the EU is represented by the European Commission and the European Central Bank. Other countries, international organizations, and nongovernmental organizations are invited to attend the summits, some permanently.

G20 IN INDIA

In September 2023, at the 18th G20 Summit, Indian PM Narendra Modi announced that the African Union has been included as a member of the G20, making it the 21st member..

G20 COUNTRIES

The members of the G20 are: Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Republic of Korea, Mexico, Russia, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, Türkiye, the United Kingdom, the United States, the African Union and the European Union.

HEALTH

BY KHUSHI SHARMA(graphic head )

The G20 countries will be focusing on strengthening primary health care and health workforce and improving essential health services and health systems to better than pre-pandemic levels, ideally within the next 2-3 years. Building on the lessons from COVID-19 pandemic, they realize the significance of digital health and health data modernization in strengthening healthcare systems and making health services including routine immunization, mental health, nutrition, and sexual and reproductive health services accessible and equitable to all. Appropriate and safe use of health data, proper legal and technical safeguards to the patient's privacy and can support informed public health policy. The Initiative aims to support countries plan and implement high quality digital health systems and facilitate patients to access healthcare services based on a people-centric approach with the highest regard for privacy and ethics, in accordance with the health information policies and privacy legislation

□ INTERNATIONAL TRADE

BY VRINDA GOEL(P.R head)

At the heart of the discussions in the G20 Summit 2023 is the evolving landscape of international trade, shaped by a multitude of factors. One of the most prominent issues is the ongoing trade tensions between the United States and China. These two economic giants have been embroiled in a protracted trade dispute, marked by tariffs and counter-tariffs. The G20 Summit provides an opportunity for leaders to engage in constructive dialogue and seek a resolution that can alleviate tensions and promote more open and fair trade.

Moreover, the summit aims to address the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, which significantly impacted global supply chains and trade patterns. Leaders are likely to deliberate on strategies to strengthen supply chain resilience, promote vaccine distribution, and ensure that the global economic recovery remains inclusive and sustainable. It's important to note that the G20 Summit is not merely a forum for discussions but also a platform for action. Leaders will aim to commit to concrete steps, such as trade liberalization, regulatory cooperation, and investment in infrastructure.

DIGITALISATION AND INNOVATION

BY APARNA(event head)

➤ Digitalisation Is The Process Of Converting Information Into A Digital (I.E. Computer-Readable) Format. The Result Is The Representation Of An Object, Image, Sound, Document, Or Signal (Usually An Analog Signal) Obtained By Generating A Series Of Numbers That Describe A Discrete Set Of Points Or Samples.

Digitalisation Does Not Only Contribute To Productivity And Efficiency, But Also To Broader Socio-Economic Development. It Is An Accelerator Of Development. The G20 Summit Focuses On Global Cooperation For Economic Growth And Development. At The 2023 Summit, There Were Discussions About Various Digitalisation Initiatives Such As Promoting Digital Infrastructure, Enhancing Cybersecurity, And Fostering Digital Skills.

Digital technologies have the potential to boost more inclusive and sustainable growth by spurring innovation, generating efficiencies and improving services; promoting digital economy, bridging the digital divide, and ensuring data privacy and security are important. To foster digital skills, the discussions at the G20 summit focused on initiatives such as providing training programs, supporting digital literacy, and promoting educational opportunities in the field of technology.

EDUCATION AND SKILLS DEVELOPMENT

BY VRINDA SHARMA(representative)

- In the recently concluded G20 Summit held under the theme of "One Earth, One Family, One Future," significant attention was directed towards fostering inclusive growth and social development. A crucial aspect of this agenda was the emphasis on Education and Skills Development as fundamental pillars for building a resilient and innovative global community. G20 member nations deliberated on strategies to bridge educational disparities, ensuring access to quality education for all. Discussions revolved around addressing the digital divide, enhancing infrastructure, and implementing policies that promote equal opportunities in education.

G20 nations explored ways to adapt education systems to meet the demands of the future workforce. This includes integrating digital literacy, coding, and emerging technologies into curricula to prepare students for the evolving job market. The G20 Summit 2023 showcased a collective determination to prioritize education and skill s development as key components for a sustainable and resilient future. By addressing educational disparities, adapting to technological advancements, and fostering global collaboration.

MIGRATION

BY MAHI SHANDILYA (2nd year representative)

Migration in India is driven by a multitude of factors, primarily stemming from economic, social, and environmental pressures. Seasonal migration of agricultural laborers, commonly known as 'circulatory migration,' is still a common practice in rural areas. This migration pattern allows workers to earn a livelihood by moving from one location to another based on the seasonal demands of agriculture. Migration has been an integral part of India's socio-economic landscape for centuries. From the seasonal movement of laborers to urbanization and displacement due to various factors, India's diverse tapestry of migration continues to evolve. In this edition of our newsletter, we delve into the multifaceted nature of migration in India, exploring the challenges, government initiatives. Webinar on Migration and Sustainable Development: Join us on November 10th to discuss the impact of migration on sustainable development in India. Resource Centre: Visit our website for articles, reports, and resources related to migration in India. Community Outreach: We are actively seeking volunteers to support migrant communities. # SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT AT THE HEART

BY Deepakshi Agarwal (content head)

- Sustainable development isn't just a buzzword; it's a critical component of the G20's agenda. The leaders of these major economies understand that sustainability is not a standalone issue but rather a foundational element that influences economic growth, environmental preservation, and societal well-being. The G20 recognizes that to secure a prosperous and harmonious future, sustainability must be integrated into every facet of policymaking. Engaging the youth in sustainable development efforts is a priority for the G20. Young people bring fresh perspectives, energy, and idealism to the table. Their active involvement can inspire change and bring new ideas and solutions to the forefront. Youth engagement programs within the G20 aim to tap into this invaluable resource. In summary, the G20 summit's spotlight on sustainable development is not a mere political gesture but a clear recognition of the interdependence of global challenges and the need for holistic solutions. Together, we can be catalysts for positive change and champions of sustainable development.

STREET ANIMALS AT RISK

BY KOMAL(2nd year representative )

In a landmark discussion at the G20 Summit, leaders from around the world convened to address the pressing problems faced by street animals, bringing attention to a largely overlooked issue. Street animals, including stray dogs, cats, and other urban wildlife, face a myriad of challenges that require immediate attention and collective action. The challenges these animals confront on a daily basis are multifaceted. Among the most urgent concerns are:

- 1. Overpopulation: Street animals reproduce rapidly, leading to overpopulation. This not only increases their suffering but also poses public health risks.
  - 2. Lack of Shelter: Homeless animals are often without safe shelter from harsh weather conditions, making them vulnerable to extreme temperatures and natural disasters.
  - 3. Starvation: Many street animals struggle to find enough food, leading to malnutrition and suffering.
  - 4. Animal Cruelty: Street animals are frequently subjected to abuse, cruelty, and neglect by individuals, which necessitates stricter laws and enforcement to protect them.
  - 5. Road Accidents: Stray animals on the streets face constant danger from vehicular traffic, leading to injuries and fatalities.
- This focus on animal welfare at the G20 Summit signifies a step toward a more compassionate and responsible approach to urban wildlife management, seeking solutions to improve the lives of street animals while also safeguarding public health and safety.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY

BY Anjali(social media head)

The summit takes place at a time when the global economy is facing increased downward pressure, and there are growing difficulties in achieving sustainable development worldwide amid mounting challenges such as the climate change and the ongoing Ukraine crisis. "As the primary forum for international economic cooperation, the G20 nations should strengthen partnerships and collectively address prominent challenges in the international economic and development fields, and actively contribute toward promoting global economic recovery, growth and sustainable development, As an immediate step, countries must reverse recently imposed restrictions on food exports. Further measures are also needed to strengthen supply chains and to help vulnerable countries adapt food production to cope with climate.

CLIMATE SUSTAINABILITY AND ENERGY

By- Anushka Naithani (content head)

- The G20 recognises the importance of collective action in tackling environmental challenges and climate change while promoting transitions towards more flexible, transparent and cleaner energy systems. The OECD supports the G20 Presidency's work, building on its extensive expertise in green growth, clean and climate-resilient infrastructure, fossil fuel subsidies, energy regulation, green finance and investment, environmental taxation and Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG).
- One of the key highlights from the CoP 27 summit last year was The establishment of a loss and damage fund for supporting Developing countries that are highly exposed to the drastic Impacts of climate change. The New Delhi Declaration agreed On making funding arrangements for these countries to Respond to any environmental loss and damage due to natural Calamities. The summit successfully championed the motto of Strong, Sustainable, Balanced, and Inclusive Growth (SSBIG) Through well-calibrated monetary, fiscal, financial, and structural Policies aimed at promoting growth, reducing inequalities and Maintaining macroeconomic and financial stability. G20 leaders endorsed the International Sustainability.
